Professional Experience

Alison Hughes joined A.W. Hooker in 2000, and has since practiced her entire quantity surveying career with the firm.

She has performed as a Partner role since 2004.

Alison continuously demonstrates accuracy and consistency in leading the consulting teams across a wide array of projects in each of the major construction sectors.

She has compiled a wealth of experience in providing a full range of cost consulting services throughout both the design and construction stages, particularly from the start to complete finish of major projects.

Alison has thrived in providing the leadership and organization required for large-scale, high-profile developments, and carries the same standard forth to all assignments.
